JWV 74th CONVENTION IS NEAR

David Tack "Our Man in London" Reports on Feuereisen Visit To London Meeting of AJEX

National Commander Charles Feuereisen journeyed to London recently at the express invitation of AJEX to attend its meeting that was held in that city recently. The Commander's column on Page 3 covers one phase of the London sojourn when Mr. Feuereisen witnessed a mass demonstration in Trafalgar Square.

This mind-blowing mass meeting by the supporters of El Fatah was very reminiscent of the early days in Germany when the same mindless shouts during Nazi meetings brought Adolph Hitler into power and almost darkened the lights of civilization forever. Commander Feuereisen is no

N.Y. JWV Opposes CCNY Quota Plan

The New York Department of Jewish War Veterans has joined other Jewish organizations in calling on the Board of Higher Education to reject the efforts of the City College of New York to establish a quota system for admissions.

An agreement reached between the CCNY administration and black and Puerto Rican stu-

L. A. Ready to Welcome JWV For Exciting 1969 Meeting

The beautiful "City of the Angels," the movie capital of the world is dusting off its red carpet for the 74th Annual National Convention of the Jewish War Veterans when they come to town the week of August 17th through the 24th.

The Convention Committee and its Chairman, Judge Isaac Murov, are lining up the top-flight speakers who will address the Convention, setting up the interesting forums, and busy with all the details to make this meeting a star-studded one.

On Page 5 of this Veteran is an ad showing you the "Funtime" programs that the Convention Committee has planned for you. There is a special Recreation Committee set up which is handling all the details for these programs. They will have a booth near the Reservation Desk at the Los Angeles Hilton so that when you are signing in, you can at the same time sign up for the special "Funtime" doings. All will be at a small extra cost to you.

On the "Funtime" program will be a trip to Disneyland; a fabulous tour of Universal Studio, that has been the home of many of the greats of the silver screen; tours of Los Angeles day or nighttime; and even hourly flights to Las Vegas for those who want to "take in" this incredible city where Lady Luck (and Howard Hughes) hold sway.

The young-in-years are not neglected in the "Funtime" schedule and among the swinging things planned will be an all day beach party complete with a picnic lunch.

Whether you have ever been to Los Angeles or not, you will always find it a fascinating city. And how lucky that the Los Angeles Hilton is so conveniently located that you can go! go! go! on your own, too, and visit many places of interest. The Hilton is right in the heart of all the action.

How about a few tips on what to do and see on your own? For instance, on Sunset Blvd., between Sanborn Junction and Echo Park district the antique buffs will find a wealth of antique (and yes junk) shops for browsing and gift buying. Very modest prices, too!

Next Year in Jerusalem! JWV Meets for 2nd Time in Israel

With the formal approval by the National Executive Committee of the Jewish War Veterans, the plans and programs for the second JWV-NEC Meeting and Convocation in Israel are now an accomplished fact. This will be the second time JWV has come to Israel for an historic meeting. The first time was in 1968.

Many special features are planned for this great convocation. These will, as usual, be reserved exclusively for members of the organization who have come to the meeting as either NEC members or delegates to the expanded meetings and convocation.

These affairs are expected to include a reception tendered them by the President of Israel and its Prime Minister, Mrs. Gold Meir.

There will be a visit to the JWV Memorial Forest, a visit to the Soldiers' Home that is one of the "adopted" projects of JWV in Israel. This will, of course, be the Beersheba Soldiers House from which the soldiers of Israel will greatly benefit.

As you can see from the ad on Page 5 of this issue of the
